HEACHAM MANOR HOTEL, HUNSTANTON ROAD, HEACHAM, NORFOLK PE31 7JX

Introduction

There is a lot going on in the world right now that is both unsettling and downright scary. My answer to this is to take a 'live in the moment' approach to life. As Leo Tolstoy said: 'The only time that is important is now. It is the only time when we have any power.'

Of course, there are times when simply living in the moment is just not possible. Planning ahead is a crucial skill whether you are at work or with family and friends. Buying advance tickets, planning a trip, booking a table – this all calls for forward thinking. However, once the plans are laid, step off the treadmill and settle into the moment.

And Norfolk is a great place to do this.

This winter, give yourself space to relax and clear your head of all the clutter. Go for a long walk on the beach; wrap up in a blanket and watch the sun set over the Wash; swap the bustle of the office for the honking of the geese as they fly over the fields to their roosting grounds on the coast. Take a country lane across the fields and through the quiet woods.

Even as I write this, I am thinking that my festive holidays will definitely include a walk with the family followed by a late lunch in one of the fantastic pubs or restaurants that are liberally scattered across the county. There is no better way of living in the moment than to surround yourself with love and laughter – plus great food and drink of course.

This edition of Eat Out Norfolk is packed full of ideas for places you can visit with family and friends to enjoy some great Norfolk fare. We might not always have the luxury of putting aside all the problems that are afflicting the human race right now, but do grant yourself time in the coming months to forget the past, put the future on hold and enjoy being exactly where you are.

Merry Christmas and a healthy and happy New Year!

Rosie

Nestled in Norfolk

The Feathers, Holt

The Feathers is a cosy country haven, that has been made a firm favourite for centuries, situated in the middle of Holt's bustling high street. Stepping through The Feathers' welcoming front door into the historic bar, locals and travellers hunker down in quiet, stylish interiors in front of blazing log fires in winter and sociable outdoor terrace tables in summer. The menus focus on local produce, from Brancaster Mussel Wednesdays and Thursday Steak Nights, to Burger Shack Fridays and Host Your Roast on Sundays. With 14 ensuite bedrooms at the pub and another 15 large bedrooms at The Lawns Rooms, just a four-minute walk away. The Feathers is an ideal dog-friendly location to enjoy all that North Norfolk has to offer.

The Globe Inn, Wells-next-the-Sea

Overlooking a pretty, leafy Georgian square, the dog-friendly Globe Inn is perfectly placed for an adventure on the beautiful North Norfolk coast. With interiors inspired by the town's maritime charm, the pub and dining room feature an eclectic mix of travel ephemera, walnut timbers and antique lighting. Open for breakfast, lunch and dinner, guests can settle in for food from The Globe's seasonal and themed menus, from Monday World Curries and Wednesday's Around The Globe inspired menus, to Burger, Grill and Chill Fridays. The 19 on-site bedrooms provide a welcome retreat after a day on the coast and the addition of Arch House Rooms offer another 10 off-site spacious bedrooms, all with private parking and just a short five-minute walk away.

The Wiveton Bell, near Brancaster

The relaxed pub serves high quality, but unpretentious long lunches and sumptuous suppers. The dining room extends into our sun-filled garden and terrace, boasting views of the church over the meadow. Expect to find menus that celebrate our access to artisan local suppliers, complemented by pub classics. Award winning cheeses, freshly caught seafood and home-reared meats are on our doorstep – helping our Chefs stay true to our region. As with our food, we want to ensure we are considerate of our guests' varying tastes when it comes to drinks. We hope you agree that our diverse wine list, range of beer and ales – including non-alcoholic – seasonal mocktails and cocktails do just that.

Gifting a Perfect Christmas Hamper - Insider's Guide

Thinking of putting together a foodie hamper as a gift this year? I'll let you in on some of my secrets, as a professional hamper creator for my business Fabulous Food Finds. There's an art to curating the right line-up of products and making it beautiful without blowing the budget.

Choosing the right mix of food and drink to go into your box of goodies is key; you want treats they can dive straight into like chocolate or crisps, ingredients that they'll keep going back to, condiments that perk up midweek meals, luxury store cupboard staples and things that get them talking and bring a touch of festive cheer.

First, you need to decide whether you want to include anything fresh, or you'll only include ambient products (things that don't need to be refrigerated). My advice is to keep things simple and steer away from chilled products like cheese, meat or seafood so there's no worry about things going off and spoiling.

Sourcing Products

Norfolk has some fantastic food halls, delis and independent food shops to purchase your hamper contents. Try Star Plain Stores and Bakers and Larners in Holt, Jarrols' Food Hall in Norwich, Fig and Olive Cromer and The Norfolk Deli in Hunstanton.

Here are my top festive food finds produced in Norfolk for the most impressive hampers

- Candi's Cupboard have an irresistible range of festive chutney this year, the Mulled Pear and Norfolk Perry Chutney would be ideal for a Christmas Cheeseboard or Boxing Day spread.
- Gift the warmth of a luxury hot chocolate from Toftwood's Grumpy Panda; they have great coffee and tea too.
- Add indulgence with a range of single-origin chocolate from Norwich-based Darkroom Chocolate.

Fabulous Food Finds Hamper

Darkroom Chocolate

Grumpy Panda

- Crisp melt-in-the-mouth shortbread comes in various flavours from Diss-based Simon's Shortbread; they also make fabulous marmalade.

Although alcohol can be a real treat for some, I tend to leave booze out of the boxes as so many people are cutting down these days. Miniatures would be a great addition if your budget is limited or just stick to some sparkling fruit soda or kombucha.

More ideas of things to include are some luxury artisan chocolate truffles, shortbread and festive spices like cinnamon or mixed spice. A fantastic jar of curry sauce will make a quick meal from leftovers. A great chutney and some posh crackers will make a brilliant addition to a cheese board. How about pickled onions or walnuts to go with cold meats and bubble and squeak (my Boxing Day tradition)?

Packaging your hamper

It's easy to get tempted into all that glitters in the world of packaging; but if you're buying for someone that really loves their food, they'll appreciate substance over glitzy wrapping. Tissue paper inside a box with some coloured zig zag shredded paper looks great and as they open the tissue paper they'll get the surprise of what's inside. Don't forget to fill your box so your goodies don't rattle around and get damaged, and think about keeping glass away from the corners where possible.

Delivering your gift

If you need to post your precious parcel, be sure to investigate your options in advance of sending it. I've wasted many an hour and cried tears over deliveries; tipping over the weight limit, smashed glass, missing parcels etc. Wrap any glass with an extra layer than you first think is adequate, tape up your box really well and use fragile stickers all over the box; imagine how many times your box will be moved from van to conveyor, dropped, kicked, poked etc and prepare for the worst!

Rather buy a ready-made hamper?

If you're thinking a hamper would make a great gift this Christmas, but don't need the hassle of sourcing the products and building your own, you might want to try one of the Fabulous Food Finds Festive Tasting Boxes. It's packed full of fabulous food and drink and comes with a virtual guided tasting where I talk through all the products, how to use them, tell their stories and introduce some of the faces behind the brands too. A subscription to the quarterly tasting boxes would make the ultimate gift for the food lover in your life.

Tim and Koi offer a warm welcome at The New Forge, Aylsham, a restaurant of English and Thai Fusion.

Situated just a few miles north from Norwich Airport on the A140 (just before you reach the historic market town of Aylsham on the River Bure) next to Aylsham Garden Centre.

Serving freshly prepared Thai and English food 6 days a week, the extensive menus cater for all ages and palates. Booking is always recommended as despite being able to seat over 130 people we do fill up quickly during peak periods – however, we will always try to find you a table as soon as possible if you don't have a booking during these times.

On warmer days, our covered patio area and our extensive garden offer additional seating for that relaxing outdoor experience, and our refurbished children's play area now has a safety fence and additional play equipment.

Cosy Edwardian elegance

Established in 1897, The Cliftonville stands proud on top of Cromer's iconic North Norfolk coastline. Recently fully refurbished to a spectacular standard, the hotel retains all of its splendid original features, 30 perfectly appointed sea view bedrooms, inspiring dining spaces, magnificent stained glass windows, dramatic fireplaces and famous grand staircase, making The Cliftonville the ultimate all year round destination venue.

If you are looking for somewhere unique to eat in the area, their sea view dining rooms offer exquisite seasonal dishes inspired from the local area and showcasing local quality produce. Dishes that stand out on the new seasonal menu include Moules Marinière, Roast Venison Loin and Spiced Carrot and Caramelised Red Onion Tatin, warming, hearty Sunday Roasts and super popular brand new sharing boards, perfect for enjoying with a loved one. If you are looking to feed the whole family, there is a cool menu for little tummies with a host of delicious choices for even the fussiest of little ones, you can even incorporate a bit of healthy competition and indulge in a board game together or build a Lego masterpiece tucked away in the lounge afterwards. Four legged friends are welcome in the lounge restaurant, so that nobody has to miss out on together time. Serving from noon until last orders at 8.45pm.

Something completely different for your taste buds, try their mind boggling 14" square sharing Levels Pizza, served in a unique wooden box to keep them piping hot, they are a taste revelation! Also available to takeaway if you fancy a night in. Open Friday and Saturday from 4pm during the winter.

Looking to celebrate a special occasion, then look no further. With a choice of gorgeous event spaces to choose from for intimate parties of 6 to big get togethers of 100, there is something for everybody to love. Their dedicated team of planners can help you to create the perfect, bespoke celebration, whatever the occasion, corporate meeting spaces including the use of a projector and screen and more.

Planning a wedding? The Cliftonville is the perfect venue to tie the knot, the hotel is fully licensed to hold the wedding ceremony and host a low key or spectacular reception, it's your choice. Just a short stroll from the picturesque Cromer beach and iconic Victorian Pier, indulge yourself with unique photographic and video opportunities to create memories to last a lifetime. Family friendly at The Longe Arms

The Longe Arms in Spixworth, recently taken over by Daryl and Carly Jones is a traditional pub, offering a warm family friendly atmosphere, serving delicious home cooked food.

Situated in the heart of Spixworth on the corner of Crostwick Lane and Buxton Road, it is very easy to access via the Northern Distributor Road. This village pub is becoming one of the places to visit in the area, and is already becoming a favorite for small private events.

Daryl is a chef by trade and has a real passion for quality food and will be using local produce for his homemade dishes. A full menu and extensive wine list will be available soon.

We recommend that you book for Sunday lunch, as their roasts are very popular.

Carly has an eye for detail and a history of customer service, she will be there most days ready to welcome you with a warm, friendly smile.

The Longe Arms had been closed for a while before the couple took over, so they are very keen to let people know that they are open for business, and are looking to take the village pub to a new level of service in a relaxed, friendly atmosphere.

Enjoy your favorite tippie every day, open 7 days a week, including Christmas Day in the afternoon.

You can enjoy a freshly brewed coffee in the afternoons, or a hot chocolate for the kiddies, perfect for a stop on the way home from the school run.

The pub offers free parking, and is dog friendly in the bar area and on the patio in the garden.

If you would like to find out more about the Longe Arms you can contact them at the pub or follow them on Socials for updates and news on what's happening.
